INTRODUCTION

I am a junior full-stack developer with a penchant for front-end development, skilled in implementing the agile manifesto. I possess excellent adaptability skills and am never afraid to take on new challenges to learn. I am always polite and empathetic; I enjoy working in a team and have a very friendly personality, although I can demonstrate the necessary resolution when required. I am a loyal person, and when I give my word, I always keep it: I am not afraid of effort or sacrifices, and I love socializing both with the public and with my colleagues.
